

(Late December Hunts the snow can be deep enough to prevent hunting in 4 wd Drive trucks, so Snow Mobles may be the only way to get to the hatfields and scrub Oak that the elk winter in. This is unique and can be a lot of fun if you dress for it. Keep this in mind if you schedule a hunt in late December.)Late November and early December the hunts are done in trucks, with heaters.)

Hunting ID: 5053-CO-G-M-3000-004-ElkMDeerAntelope-N3ERMIL-OMH-MOT-Private Land Elk

Welcome to the Elk and Deer hunting that Colorado is famous for and brings hunters back year after year after year. You are hunting in the elk golden triangle, with the highest elk density in the world not to mention the outstanding Mule Deer size and number to match the yester years. The key is, well managed PRIVATE LAND! There are a lot of elk on this land to begin with but with the movement of hunters outside the property the elk pour in to be in the safety of private land and be right in your lap like the ones that that were there to begin with.

These are semi-Guided hunts which is perfect for your hunting freedom. The outfitter and guides work with you to get you set up overlooking hay fields, thoroughfares, and migration corridors where the elk travel. Their movement and the others hunting with you provide enough movement so that the elk move easily.

The elk are hard on the hay fields so we are taking a few off this year to allow us to bail more hay. We graze very few to none of our cattle on the property so there is always plenty of feed for the elk left over after custom in the hayfields along with the creek bottoms and hillsides. The hill sides also provide cover with the elk's favorite cover, scrub oak, bitterbrush abounds in the area which provides 15% protein and is 50% digestible so it requires minimal energy to process and the maximum amount of protein. In relations to straight corn is only 7%. Nature take care of its animals all we do is provide a semi-safe place, with little traffic and a little harvest. Our deer, elk and antelope predators are kept at a bare minimum we do not provide a safe haven for them on our properties.

In addition, we hunt and harvest as many mountain Lions and coyotes as possible every year. With the large number of deer, elk and antelope on the property it is a great attractant to predators. This being eagles for the fawns along with coyotes and mountain lions from young to full size game. They travel to some degree with the food source.

For those that can shoot we run close to 100% harvest. For those that can't shoot they have plenty of opportunity and shoot a lot of bullets and have a good time. As we know elk can be extremely smart and the 14-year-old lead cows have been through these 14 times.

We do our best to provide you with our 25 years of experience outfitting and guiding here to give you a leg up on the old gal, or more so her followers, which are the best eating.

She is the leader and depending on the season you hunt most of the times the bulls are hiding on the back end of the herd but know that she is the "Head Momma" and stay with here for safety and her knowledge. She will fight the other cows for that position and usually she is the biggest and strongest along with usually the oldest of the whole herd including the bulls.

Hunts to die for and elk have been dying for it for years. Being taken by Archers, Muzzleloaders and Rifle hunters that have found this great area, and never leave. Hunters that hunt here know about the high density of elk and the low price of the hunt are stop looking for a place to hunt. The success speaks for its self.

For the archer and the muzzleloader hunters we run some of the highest success rates, even with the reduced range weapons. For the rifle shooter it gets no better than this if you want to fill your freezer with meat and put horns on your wall.

License are relatively easy to draw as long as you put in for the draw. The 2nd and 3rd season bull licenses are over the counter. The 1st, 4th and Muzzleloader season require the draw. First and 4th are relatively easy but the highest point taker is the muzzleloader hunter license.

You well be hunting in GMU0441 but because of the multiple areas under the GMU004 designation depending on the season and the animal the primary GMU number may change.

Mule Deer can be taken by itself or in a combination hunt with an elk. Every year we take some great Trophy deer and even antelope of the hayfields and perimeter areas.

We promote hunting and want you to have a good time and take-home animal. We will assist you in getting set up in a great area then move with different hunters to move the large volume of elk around. They will come by your location. There is no need to walk all day as in some hunting. Sitting in a high traffic area we find that you see more elk and your shot accuracy is much better, because you are able to better plan your shot and have a good solid rest for you rifle as the elk come into range of you position.

Great Buys

(Note: Colorado allows a hunter to take 2 elk per year as long as 1 is a private land cow elk. If you use the "List" in the regulations.)

- 1 List A which almost any Bull or either sex elk license
- 1 List B which is private Land and usually a Cow License
- 1 List C which is in an area that the Parks and Wildlife want to take out a herd of elk. They are unlimited.

Each License has a List designation, noted in the regulations directly Left of the hunting License Hunt Code.

There are a high number of return clients every year that have this all filled up early each year, sometimes it requires booking a year in advance. They must know about the high success rate and after hunting many years, have found this outfitter and rebook each year when they leave for the following year.

I will do my very best to get you in on this hunt then from that point on you have priority for this hunt.

Bull Elk E-M-003-O1-R November All Land

Bull Elk E-M-004-O4-R November All Land

Cow E-F-003-O4-R November All Land

Actual property is in GMU441 and GMU214. Licenses, ATV's meals and lodging are not included but we have some local options. They are an asset during the regular seasons but during the November 20-December 31 season for cows only the hunts early are conducted in 4-wheel drive truck, then from about mid-December on it can be by snow mobile depending on the weather and snow depth.

Each hunter is responsible hunting gear, not just to have it but to know it and how to use it. In a quick shot you may need to shoot quickly and accurately. This begins with gun, ammo, bow and arrows, binoculars, range finder, clothes and so on. We will not shoot your animal for you, so it is up to pull the trigger accurately to take something home.

There are local Walmart's and Sporting Goods Stores for hunting needs and food.
