California Buffalo Hunt

Experience the same thrill that Sioux warriors did over a century ago doing your own personal buffalo hunt. The spot, the stalk, a steady aim and the blast! Then hundreds of 1000 pound animals are running every direction. As the dust from the stampede settles, and the thundering ground quits goes silent as the herd moves away, there is just 1 large black/brown mass standing out in a rolling field of green grass. You have just shot the largest animal that you have ever put your crosshairs on, and your still in California! You are about to take home some of the leanest but best tasting meat you have ever had cross your dining room table. Is this recreating or is this grocery shopping, it is both and you are the beneficiary for both.

The buffalo are a reproducing herd, free roaming on over 3,500 acres. A cow buffalo weighs between 1150-1300 lbs. They have very nice horns and a lot of meat. They make a good European or shoulder mount. A bull buffalo weighs between 1000-1300 lbs. They are 3-4 years old and have horns that are longer and heavier than cow horns. They also have nice thick beards. They make great European and shoulder mounts. A trophy bull weighs between 1700-2000 lbs. They have thick strong horns and make the best mounts. Trophy bulls have a high chance to score SCI.

A buffalo hunt includes a two day hunt, field dressing of game, and complimentary delivery to a local butcher. Lodging is available for $50 per night and sleeps up to 7 people.
