

Hunt ID: KS-WMDeerTurkey-All-RooksCO-Cody

This is a 10,000 acres guided rut hunt with rifles in the famous west Kansas transition zone. Here is where farming meets ranching providing excellent whitetail and mule deer hunting. The property is crossed with two major creeks the Solomon and Deer Creek, plus their tributaries. Winter wheat is located near big buck havens that they are drawn out of to check feeding does and eat themselves as the looking for one last doe is on every bucks mind.

Three Day Guided 1 on 2 guided Mule Deer 180 or less B &C Gross or Whitetail Deer 160 B&C less only $4000 discounted down to only per hunter for only 2 seats $1995. You may take a mule Deer or a whitetail deer depending on what your license defines.

Trophy and additional options Nebraska Deer hunts Above

1. Additional days after the 3rd day hunt are $ 250 per day.
 2. If the buck is under 160 whitetail or under 180 mule deer B&C Gross the price stands.
 4. If the buck is over 160 whitetail or under 180 mule deer B&C Gross there is a $1,500 trophy fee. The hunter must have the $ 1500 in his pocket in the form of cash to begin the hunt. Do you have the strength to pass on a 200 class buck? Yes we all do but bring the cash just in case.
 5. Hunts are priced as a 2 hunter to 1 guide. With 1 on 1 add $ 900.

The rivers are the mainstay of life in the region so the mule deer, whitetail deer and turkeys use the water for drinking and the cover for hiding from their enemies. The area between is filled with large fields of Dryland wheat which is a great block to use to pattern deer in the creek bottoms.

The whitetail deer hug the river bottom cover while the mule deer tend to in habitat that land outside of the river bottom the prevalent ridges and bluffs that give the steep and eroded terrain that they are so famous for inhabiting.

This hunt is completely guided but meals and lodging are the hunter's responsibility, unless agreed to by the hunter and the outfitter. In this way you will be staying where prescouting has shown the biggest bucks have collected.

Your guide will pre-scout the area before you enter the first come first serve license sale and tell you to put in for Zone 1, Zone 2 or Zone 3.

If you are after mule deer it will be the spot and stalk type of hunting. If you are after whitetail it will be blinds or tree stands, the typical way to catch a whitetail traveling during the rut.

Outside the river bottom is agricultural field's wheat that is a magnet to the deer during the hunting season because it is the only plant that is green at that time of year. They can travel for feeding or the rut day or night in the river bottom. The evenings and mornings you will see them on their favorite agricultural delicacy.

Since the property is so large we want to lodge you as close as possible to the best deer hunting. Because of that we will lodge you in a local motel so we spend as little time as possible on the road and as much time as possible in the field. You are welcome to take a mule deer or a whitetail deer whichever is your preference.

It will be a 3 day hunt with most travel in 4 wheel drive trucks or walking. We have ATV's to get the animals out if the location where you shoot a buck is difficult but we don't usually hunt from them. In many places the deer hearing an unusual noise like an ATV will spook them much more than a common truck. The terrain dictates the tool.

The Kansas gun deer season is at the end of the rut November 28th to December 9th. There is a earlier season if you would like to hunt during the rut, November 10th – 20th. In most states that is set aside for archers or no hunting at all. The joy of seeing a big necked buck at 200 yards with does on his mind makes you fingers quickly remember what it takes to take off the safety.

We also keep the low Rio Grande Turkey prices, 3 day $395 1st bird, second bird $100 more.

This can be for the spring or fall season. Turkeys can be taken with a shotgun or archery equipment.
