Missouri and Kansas Whitetail and Turkey Hunts available

Kansas Unit 11 Land available and a minimal amount in unit 10

Missouri

The Missouri Ozarks is considered by many to be one of the most beautiful areas in the United States. It is also the perfect environment for trophy whitetail deer. Deer require abundant sources of timber, grassland and water. Maintaining a favorable habitat for trophy bucks is a key priority for this Outfitters staff. An ongoing program to provide appropriate nutritional requirements for deer populations has proven extremely successful, resulting in Boone & Crockett scores that improve every year.

This is a premier outfitter in Missouri providing hunts for world class trophy whitetails on over 2000 beautiful acres in the Lake of the Ozarks region. Missouri holds the world record for non-typical whitetail deer racks, and we are trying to break our record every year.

Hunt planning for deer and turkey is discussed among the guides and the hunters to provide a coordinated effort and to be certain that everyone knows where the other hunters are located on this 2000 acre farm.

No matter if you are hunting alone or with a group, archery, and muzzleloader or with a gun, we will take care of your individual needs to make your hunt one of a lifetime. Because of our long history of game management on deer, quail, and turkey you will have a much improved chance of harvesting a world class trophy.

We have property in Kansas and in Missouri so tags are always available. Keep in mind that the season dates differ between the two states, as Kansas is archery only during the rut, while in Missouri at the same time it is the main gun season.

We have over 2000 acres in Missouri and over a 1000 in Kansas. All ground is privately owned, no public ground hunting here. On average for the area we are located in, in Kansas the bucks typically score round 140" to 150". This area has been well managed for several years. Now granted there are several smaller bucks and larger bucks running around, but that's just an average figure. Missouri is a sleeper state, and we are up north almost to Iowa. We've got some big bucks running around up there as well and your average is probably a bit under the Kansas Average. Not saying this is what you will harvest, because I can't guarantee you a deer and anybody that does is lying to you, they just want your money. Its hunting not shooting, anything can happen. Our price for both states is $1495 for any time of the year and for any season. Missouri lodging is included but meals are not. Close to town with restaurants and grocery stores.

All Hunt packages include lodging & Meals, field transportation, knowledgeable hunting guides, cleaning facility, Ice for packing, cleaned game. There is trophy care and a taxidermist on site for your convenience and free skinning and capping is available.

Standard transportation is ATV's and 4x4 Pickups throughout the hunt. As a rule this is not a strenuous high exertion hunt. You will be in lock on ladder stands when you hunt. We discourage any additional walking around except to and from your stand for pickup and drop off. All hunted land is private land made up of 600 acres of crop ground and the balance of the 2000 acres is river bottoms and travel corridors with dense timber.

The best time to hunt of course is during the rut which begins slow in late October and continues through the month of November.

Archery is difficult to sell in Missouri and Nebraska because the gun hunters have the rut.

A $100 fee will save you renting a car at the airport and just being picked and returned after the hunt to the airport, when hunting Kansas or Missouri. Kansas you would fly into Kansas City and Missouri you would fly into Des Moines, We prefer not to do this and would much rather them just drive themselves with a rental car to destination, so please stress that if they are flying in. Have you talked to these guys anymore and do they still seem interested, we are only taking one more group for Kansas and one more group for Missouri, so hopefully you can find something for us.
