

Hunt ID: WY-Antelope-All-ENNECHEY-ANCHXR-OREENC

This is a DIY Do it Yourself Antelope Hunt for Unit 038 in the area NW of Cheyenne Wyoming. The hunt area consists of 16,000 acres divided into 3 ranches. The landowner will be responsible for putting you on each ranch as they manage the antelope numbers.

The cost is $ 600 per hunter reduced down to only $ 495 for the hunt and taking of 1 either sex antelope. Additional antelope does or bucks will be prices separately, or may not be available depending on the landowner herd management plan. This is a ranch that books early so access is very limited because of the minimal booking it takes. This Wyoming Unit is primarily private land and the landowners watch their properties very closely.

This lack of public land is the reason it is one of the few areas that has antelope licenses leftover after the draw is over. One of the values of hunting private land is the animal availability and quality. This is great for archery with the herds compressing down as the watering holes swindle and ground blind next to a watering hole is a great asset. The rifle hunting is also permitted but much more limited in numbers.

One key factor in a high plains desert as where most of the antelope in the US are available is the water availability. Most private land holds cattle as an income for the landowner, and cattle drink 20 gallons of water per day. So if you see water or cattle you have a high possibility of having antelope in the area(Less than a mile away) and the dryer it is the more likely the antelope will be using that water source.
