

Hunt ID: CO-5025-Hogs-Exotics

It's time to hunt Exotics! This is a year around activity. Archery, Rifle or Muzzleloader we have a 1000 acre enclosure that houses the mature animals which are extremely keen because of their age so it is not, "shooting a cow in the field."

The scrub oak brush and aspen cover make this hunt a challenge and your trophy a masterpiece. The average hunt is an 8-hour day. This is also a good way to start a new shooter because of the ranch living experience along with a hunt that help them realize that even though they have a rifle or a bow they will need to work for the animal of their choice. This is perfect for a weekend hunt outside of the big game seasons with warm weather because 1000 acres is almost 1 mile by 1 mile of area on a hill side and covered with animal cover.

We supply excellent trophies at an affordable price, hunting for exotics such as: hogs, Catalina Goat, Spanish Goat, White Fallow Deer, Chocolate Fallow Deer, Spotted Fallow Deer, White Ram, Barbado Ram, Black Barbado Ram, Painted Desert Ram and Merino Ram. You can also make this an added hunt after you bag your elk or deer.

The greatest reservation a hunter has about a game ranch is the "fair chase" concept. Is it sporting to hunt game on a fenced ranch? I would say that, if the fence precluded the escape of the animal, it is not "fair chase". The biologists say that a whitetail will die within one mile of where it is born. It is fenced by that very nature. No one would doubt, however, that the hunt for a whitetail is fair chase.

Having been to Africa on many occasions, I have always been amazed at the tameness of several species of African game. Does this mean that the hunter should not hunt African game, or a Fallow deer in Pennsylvania, Texas, or Colorado? On the other hand, exotics on a game ranch can be as tough to take as a Bighorn sheep in the mountains of Colorado.

The next item to contemplate is the time you will have to spend away from work. While this is not a major obstacle to some, others have but a limited time. We are only a 4-5-hour drive from both, Denver, and Salt Lake City. Hunt price includes two-night lodging, meals, guide, and license.

Guides – At least one guide will go with you on the hunt. His interest is to make your hunt a complete success. He will field dress game and pack it back to the lodge where he will skin and quarter it, free of charge.

Hunt price includes two nights stay in our comfortable cabins. Third night stay is $50/person. Three home cooked meals served daily

Check-in time is 4:00 pm the day before the hunt

If necessary, to reschedule, deposit will be honored for one year.

Non-hunter fee is $100.00 per hunt
