For Birds and Beast hunting you can't beat it. Multiple farms with thousands of acres by Norfolk for wild and Preserve hunting for Pheasants, Quail and Chukar, along with Wild Turkey. Whitetail deer stands and blinds to match are on different farms and the concentration of deer on the property and hunted lightly to preserve the growing quality of the bucks.

A second grouping of farms farther north near the Nebraska / South Dakota Boarder. These farms are broken into hunter properties so that each hunter or hunter group will have their own farm if possible. The farms are spread out enough so that you are not encroaching on others or they are not encroaching on you. All fenced, and in different hunting zones. With thousands of acres to hunt the outfitter places the hunters in the blinds that have been the most productive during pre-scouting. The habitat is corn, Beans, Alfalfa and other grains, woodlots, CRP, high out of control weeds, Cottonwood and hardwood bottoms, ponds another water source, along with row crop stubble. Scouting and trail cams allow him to keep tabs on the deer movement.

With so many properties it is simple to have a combo hunt with your deer hunt because of the various locations. It must be cleared first with the outfitter so that the deer are not disturbed by the bird hunting location.

The rifle hunts are geared toward the working man's price for affordability. All hunts are guided, and you are assigned to one of the blinds or tree stands on the property. With these whitetails, you will not walk up a large one but instead blow them off your property. You will be taken in on a course to not spook that areas local deer. You are to stay in that blind for the hunt. We recommend bringing a heater because mornings can be quite cold in Nebraska in November. If not a heater warm enough clothing. If you do get cold the only walking permitted is on the same path you were led in on from your truck. If you need to go to your truck to get warm that is the route to take to not push the deer out of your area.

The hunts are 4-day hunts. Some properties are hunted the first 4 days and some the second 4 days. You will arrive the day before the season and meet with the outfitter and his guides. He will show you where you will be hunting and where your blind is located. He will also explain the areas deer movement. After seeing the blind location, you can decide to walk in on your own in the morning or to have a guide lead you in. Please, please bring a flashlight and or hat brim light of some type for morning and evening access. Cell phone texting works well in this area, but phone calls can be spotty depending on your exact location.

The separate farms and ranches are set up for good whitetail Deer and Turkey hunting. The outfitter by pre-scouting, trail cams and experience lightly hunt each farm. All farms are great hunting and although the deer licenses do run out if you can get booked for the right zone as quick as possible, we will apply and get your license for you since we are in so many different zones.

(Note: Farmhouse Lodging is available at an additional cost, but about ½ price as to staying in town at $39.95 per hunter per day. You are also usually right in the area where you will be hunting. This way you can get up in the morning and usually hunt within a few minutes of where you hunt.)

We have prime upland gamebird hunting. It consists of areas of high weeds marshy areas, acres of farm ground with abundance of cover. We have areas of CRP, native grass with corn and other grains, along with thickets and again more brush cover and water sources. We also have great nesting cover and food sources in our corners for wildlife habitat. We have native birds as well as captive birds that are released. Captive birds are conditioned for flight in oversized pens.

We sponsored our local Pheasant Forever chapter youth hunt for the last several years.
