For the trophy hunter or for the meat hunter we have packages to fit all and an experience of a lifetime for both !

Located 90 minutes south of Dallas-FT Worth Airport (DFW), this ranch is home to a dozen exotic species and offers you a unique Texan and exotic animal in a totally natural environment covering almost 5000 acres. Our native and exotic animals roam freely over varying habitats of grassland, riverine areas, pecan groves and bushlands so your hunt will be tough and challenging. For the most part these animals were born and raised here in this endless expanse of multiple habitats. They grow and reproduce and sustain their population. They are not hand fed or even fed with corn or protein feeders. The owner wants as natural of a hunting adventure as a free ranging ranch as possible.

You are entering the dark continent of Africa to pursue the game of your choice for the hunt of a life time to go with the trophy animal that you will take home if you are successful. You will want to have high powered rifle sighted in for dead on at 200 yards with the scope a 4 power or higher but have practiced shooting out at 300 yards.

Since this is not usually a "Sit in the blind" hunt, even though there are 14 elevated blinds available if you would wish but even then you will want to confirm some of your hunting and shooting skills. Archers this is even beneficial depending on the animal you are hunting there are some archery blinds but remember no corn feeder to sit by on this ranch. Quiet stalking is a must with so many ears listening, and eyes watching. You probably won't be in a elevated blind but pursuing these animals like in Africa safari style and meeting the quarry on the ground where he has the odds in his favor, he survives every day due to his sharp sense of hearing, sight and nose, you will need to be the one that had better senses than the ones that came before you that he evaded.

I recommend a Harris Bi-pod or shooting sticks, and practice using them. Get used to lying on your belly crawling as close as possible using as much cover as is available in the habitat you find him in at the time. You will be shooting, lying on your belly, practice it. Also finding and using a log or something on the ground to get a better rest then even your bipod or shooting sticks if the opportunity arises.

The outfitter/Guide can get you on the animal but you have to get your body in range and make the shot successful. This is important because guiding is required on all hunts and it is $ 100 per day without meals and lodging. If you kill the first day, that's great. If you don't you can come back for a guided hunt but it is a $100 extra for each day that is required for 3 days. After 3 days the hunt ends, so you want to take the time to reinforce your skills.

Welcome to Africa, South Africa or the Kalahari Desert or even Okavango Delta pursuing these African game animals on the continent of Africa their native land. Everything possible has been done so that these animals are not man dependent so their natural wildness can shine through and provide you the hunt of your life.

These are a few elevated stands on the property but for the most part the hunt is "spot and stalk" these animals in their native cover habitat. This completely self-sustaining large breeding herds of each species we carry with no intervention - other than to plant a few hundred acres of wheat (we have a zero bag feeding policy). We work hard to bring the innate beauty of the African antelope to the Texan hunter in as natural a setting as is possible to achieve on a large high fenced preserve.

You will be walking in the home of native Whitetail Deer, together with Exotic Antelope and Deer including Red Deer, Stag, Black Buck, Fallow, Axis, Impala, Springbuck, Waterbuck, Blesbuck, Gemsbok, Eland, Scimitar-horned Oryx , Aoudad, as well as Zebra. These same animals in Africa would have twice the price along with a 16-24 hour flight to get there along with the requirement of getting them back to the US costs and of course customs inspectors going through everything on the Africa side and the Management Hunts

Please consider us for all your meat hunt needs - We're happy to assist you in stocking your freezer!

Managing the population is an issue we take seriously and take Red Deer-Hinds, Fallow and Axis deer females as these animals repopulate very well in this mixture of habitats. We keep the most efficient buck to doe ratio so that everything is health and the habitat is not eaten down to the point where it cannot recover without the help of man.

No Guide Fees on meat Hunts

Guiding

Our resident guides are committed to making your visit to Wendy Lou, be it a day-trip or a long weekend, a single hunt or a corporate group, a memorable one. As our guest, we want you to set the pace for the hunt, but as an example, we suggest you consider the following schedule.

The pricing is of the animal only. Additional animals can be taken on the same day and you will not have another $200 charge.

There is a $200 charge per day for guiding, all hunts are have a$ 200 guide fee except for meat hunts. Many stat in a local motel and eat in restaurants in town less than 10 miles away. Field dressing, caping, quartering of your trophy for transport is available for a nominal fee.

The on Ranch Lodging

Deluxe Ranch Lodging is lavish and included meals and lodging in a Beautiful African Style Lodge with all the comforts of home. That lodging and meals is $ 250 per person per day.

The Lodge" is situated on a high ridge, thus affording panoramic views of the riverine areas, grasslands and natural bush and Wildlife.

The design incorporates Texan comfort with African ambiance, giving our guests a unique Texas African experience. African collectables such as carvings and artworks, traditional weapons, calabashes, drums and such, amassed over many years are found throughout the lodge.

Each suite has two queen size beds, a luxury bathroom, an enclosed outdoor shower, built-in personal gun safe, personal satellite T.V. and its own ducted air conditioning system.

The living area with its impressive wood and stone features incorporates an open plan lounge/dining/kitchen/bar area with comfortable furnishings, large open fireplace, satellite TV and a quiet reading space upstairs.

The outdoor "boma", a stone wall enclosed fire pit and dining area, open to the stars, offers an African feel and is the venue for a different evening dining experience.

Relax in front of the fireplace or chill out at our thatched "Look-out Bar" while your hosts take care of gourmet meals, ensuring that your stay at Wendy Lou is nothing short of Five Stars!

BASIC SCHEDULE FOR OVERNIGHT STAYS IN OUR LODGING:

- * On your first day, settle into your suite and meet your guide. Then head down to the range and site your weapon (Caliber of weapon required to be adequate to game hunted, as wounded animals are considered taken whether they are recovered or not).
- * On the second day, rise early and grab a snack before heading out to the stand or stalk.
- * Return to the Lodge for a hot brunch.
- * After brunch, you may spend the afternoon fishing or at your leisure.
- * Late afternoon, head back to the stand or stalk.
- * In the evening, return to the Lodge for pre-dinner drinks, dinner follows and thereafter an early night is recommended.

ADVICE TO OUR TROPHY HUNTER:

Our serious trophy hunter should consider booking their Red Stag, Fallow and Axis hunts as early in the season as possible in order to have the best selection of top trophies to choose from - once the rut starts, which is generally around end of September in our parts, the incidence of horn damage increases as the season progresses and thus your choice may be narrowed towards the end of season, when in addition, the horns start to drop, sometimes as early as March.

Our hard horned antelope are not subject to the same considerations - top trophy potential is enjoyed as early, as it is late in our hunting season.

This is formatted like an African hunt in that you can shoot the largest of the animal that you are after on the ranch, you decide which one you want, and if you want to look at everyone on the ranch you can. We keep trophy class of each animal and there is the natural growth trends as the animals are born and grow up to that trophy size.

The whitetail deer like all Texas whitetail frequently break antler tips as the fall wears on so the earlier dates can be better for antler quality, the same with Stags. The Axis Deer can be hard horn, no horn or in velvet during any month of the year. The fallow bucks all lose their antlers and grow the new ones along a similar time line as a whitetail deer.

Keep in mind that all of the other animals have Horns not antlers so they can be hunted during a wider range with quality horns.

Trophy Hunts are limited to the reproduction of the herds on the ranch.
