

Hunt ID: WY-9002

Welcome to wild and wonderful Wyoming! We have more antelope than people so if you after antelope you came to the right place. We also hunt Mule Deer, Whitetail Deer, Elk and Moose.

The secret about how successful hunting in Wyoming is, has gotten out with a 10% increase in applicants for 3 of the last 5 years. This is beginning to make drawing license more and more difficult every year, the good part is it will never be easier than this year, and the benefited of the draw to the hunter make it so you don't have as many hunters to compete with in the field. With our 20 years of knowledge in hunting/Outfitting/Guiding in Wyoming we take you away from the crowds.

The other piece we bring to the table is that we know the Wyoming application Draw system inside and out, we live here and know how to apply for the license to require the smallest amount of points, and we consult you on the options to be successful in the draw.

If you know how to hunt deer, elk and antelope but just need to be where they are here is the way. Most areas that we hunt require points but for Deer it is just required to get in the drawing and get a Region D or Region E Deer License. There are only a few seats left on this one because of the easy ability to get the licenses. The bulk of the deer and antelope hunting is in the Casper area and south.

We will provide you the hunt lodging and the Pre-Scouting that is required for a successful hunt. We will take you out the day prior to your hunt and show you where the best deer concentrations are and the largest bucks. Also, where the feed and water and bed during the day so that you can put your scope on them before anyone else does.

If you say you don't need a guide, just someone to show you where the deer are than this is the hunt for you as we show you our honey holes. We only take a limited number of hunters per year, so they fill up fast. If you have a Wyoming Deer Preference point you are in. If you don't have a Wyoming Preference Point apply for the special Buck Bucket, otherwise you will be staying home.

In Wyoming if you hunt Deer, Elk and Antelope you build enough knowledge that you really don't need a guide every time, you need a place where you can hunt that has Antelope, Elk Deer and Moose so you can be successful.

We specialize in DIY Hunts (Unguided) for the knowledgeable hunter(s). We provide you with a drop camp in the area to hunt which is comprised of private and public land. For most animals we want you to take one bigger than average. Because of that we hunt the more premium areas where these animals exist in good numbers. We know the ground from 15 plus year of outfitting and guided it.

As far as our success rate, it comes down more so to the hunters. If they select the hunt because of the low price not because they know how to hunt a particular game animal their success is lower than someone that knows how to hunt that particular game animal. We find that that they loose interest and begin sleeping in until 9-10 o'clock. This type of poor time management will not fill your tag, but how you manage your time is up to you. These areas we are hunting are prime areas with larger than average animals, and much fewer hunters because it has a limited number of hunters that can hunt these areas. It requires 2 points to draw so it would classify it as a quality trophy area, but it doesn't me the animals are dumb, they have a few years under their belt, in this area and this is the first year for you in the area.

We try to level the playing field by providing you with lodging, the points in our history hunting the area.

We pre-scout it before you get there and take you to what we have found during the scouting trip. We show you antelope, help you field judge the size, show you where they water and feed so that if you lose them you will know where to relocate them the same is true for Deer and Elk as well, but formatted to that game's habits and habitat.

With that information most hunters are successful. We are not with you when you hunt so you can manage you time hunting as you would like. The fruit of the hunt is for you and controlled by you, this is not a walk in the park but as a rule most of our hunts fill their tags with anything from an average to a trophy animal.

Size is all across the wall since the hunter has the full control of when he pulls the trigger. We will give you and estimate of the average animal's size if you are a average hunter your success and size animal will be average. If you put forth the effort to be a better than average hunter the outcome of your hunt will be better than average, you are the deciding factor. Spend you hunt time wisely and you will be regarded.

The land we have you on are back in corners and lightly hunter public land. We do have some landlocked BLM land that has private land all the way around it preventing access. Because of the checkerboard nature of the landownership map we provide access across the private land to get into this land locked BLM. There is some private land we have but it is not the norm, public land of some type is the norm with private being the standard.

We will usually meet you in Casper and take you to your drop camp, that has previously set up with a camper for antelope or a tent for elk and deer. The property has been pre-scouted inside the unit that you have a license for. Then we spend ½ day or so showing you the fence lines, the animals, where they bed, where they eat and where they drink, then answer any questions that you may have. We also assist you in learning how to judge antelope horn size on the hoof. They are the second most difficult animal to judge horn size on the hoof.

This same process work well for antelope and most deer but the elk has much more logistics to it, and we don't do unguided Moose, it is guided only.

For those that do want to a guided Trophy hunt we do have package for each animal for that and it is usually done on a 1 on 1 basis.

Deposit & Refund Policy - Prior to applying for a license a $200.00 deposit is required to receive a priority listing. Upon drawing a license your deposit is non-refundable and the balance of the hunt is due by September 1st of that year. If you do not draw a license your deposit is transferable to the next year in order to maintain your priority listing. If you choose not to apply the next year your deposit will be forfeited. If you must cancel your hunt after September 1st the entire amount paid will be forfeited. Special circumstances shall be exempt from these conditions at the discretion of The Outfitter.

ANTELOPE

Semi-Guided Rifle Hunt with Lodging at a DIY Price for Antelope Hunts Available until Booked
DIY Unguided Archery or Rifle Antelope Drop Camp 6 Days $ 2000 reduced to only $1395 per person.

Except for 1 unit, we hunt areas that are draw only, no over the counter or leftover tags exist in our units. Our areas have low drawing odds unless you have preference points. We hunt almost all public ground and we spread out over many areas, this keeps our hunting pressure low and trophy quality high. Antelope Areas 63, 69, and 74 are 3 good ones that we have that take 2 points to draw. No need to put in a second choice because all of these units draw out during the first choice draw. Mixing through private and public land allows us to hit honey holes that many have never seen.

DIY Unguided Antelope Drop Camp - We provide the entire camp consisting of wall tent, cooking stoves, heating stoves, lanterns, pots and pans, all cooking and eating utensils, water, coolers, propane, cots, 4-inch foam pads, sleeping bags, pillows, tables, chairs, and conservation stamps. We will spend one day setting up the camp and showing you around the area. Your hunt is over after the final day you have reserved.

If hunted as 2 on 1 with one of your buddies so there is no discussion as to who shoots the big Buck, we will special price it at $ 100 discounted per hunter. This is where you really find out who is your buddy!

GUIDED ARCHERY ANTELOPE HUNTS

As a rule, these take place in a ground blind on a water hole. The difficulty here is a combination of 2 things.

1. Not getting any rain on the day before and the day you are hunting. Antelope would rather drink out of a rain filled mud hole or tire track than walk all the way to 1 of the few stock ponds or tanks.
2. The other item is that nothing disturbs the antelope as they approach the watering tank. If there is something they may stall getting to the tank or even change their mind and walk a mile in the other direction to a different tank. Coming to a water source is one of the times that antelope are the spookiest during their day.
3. We have some opportunities to spot and stalk if the antelope are in the right terrain, but this is just being lucky to have them in enough cover to hide your stalk path.
4. The good thing about your Wyoming antelope license is that when you buy it for archery you purchase a $20 Archery stamp. With this you can hunt a month in September with a bow, and if you don't fill the license by the time the rifle season begins around October 1st you can fill that license with a rifle.
5. Remember that big buck that stayed just out of bow range when you hunted him during archery season? Well the first day of rifle do you have a surprise for him!
6. Like any archery hunting, the longer you can hit a 15x15 Buck Chest Target the sooner you will fill your license.

Guided 1 on 1 Trophy Rifle Mule Deer Hunts until Booked
1X1 Guided Trophy Mule Deer Hunt 4 Days $3,895 per person

Guided Deer Hunts - We provide guide service, lunches and beverages in the field, transportation to and from the airport, transportation to the meat processing plant, transportation to the local taxidermist, and conservation stamp. Your hunt is over on the day you harvest your animal.

We only provide these in the Trophy areas that take 5 or more points. Since we put all our Mule Deer season efforts into this, we are not able to guide the other areas. That is why they are all Semi-Guided hunts; the Mule Deer season is only 9 days long in most of these areas, so it only allows us to guide very few hunts.

These hunts are in foothills and brushy areas that have a lot of cover and mature Mule Deer. Hunting includes the final patterning of the deer then set up to ambush him in his pattern. There can be tree stands, blinds and natural cover used to make this all come together. The area has a high level of deer density to help raise your success level if you don't rush the shot. Like any archery hunting, the longer you can hit a 18x18 Buck Chest Target the sooner you will fill your license.
